PRESIDENTS CORNER – September 2020

By Wiley Bowman

RVing has become a very big business in most parts of our country and is growing more with each passing day. Why do people fall in love with an activity that is absolutely the most frustrating and mind boggling hobby known to man. We anticipate a trip to the mountains or beach complete with perfect weather for complete relaxation, free of all worries and cares. Today's RV's are equipped with all the conveniences of home consisting of an unbelievable number of delicate devices all mounted on a chassis designed to travel down the highway at 60 to 70 miles per hour, creating a situation similar to a prolonged earthquake that plays havoc with all systems and devises necessary to simulate the comforts of home. People new to RVing are quick to learn that there are an untold number of things to remember before setting out on a journey. Don't forget to pull in all slides, raise all levelers, lower TV antennae, and be sure to take your tow car out of park. These are just a few of the many that you think you would never forget to do, but it still happens. Even when you make a check list and follow it carefully, there seem to always be electrical problems from a bad converter, low hydraulic fluid, air conditioner or refrigerator quits working, lose a tow bar pin, flat tire or even have a TV fall off the wall. Yet, somehow, we can't wait to get back in the RV, looking forward to the next trouble free trip to meet up with old friends and discuss all the problems and misfortunes of our last trip. These are the memories and good times that make RVing one of the most popular and fulfilling pastimes that continues to grow in the troubled world in which we live.

NATIONAL DIRECTOR REPORT

By Patricia Voyna

Jon Walker is asking us to send in nominations for national committees. Chapter members is anyone interested in serving on a national committee. If so, please have them send Betty Duncan your name, Committee, and what you would bring to the committee.

Committees are:

Constitution and Bylaws
Governmental & Legislative Affairs
Membership & Member Services
Policy & Procedure
FMCA Review Council
Risk Management

The other committees will be appointed by the President or are designated to certain people or areas, such as the Convention Committee, Budget Committee, and Finance Committee.

Also, we welcome candidates for all offices in the Southeast Area (SEA), but we have no one stating they are running for Treasurer, South Florida VP, or Mississippi VP. Steve Parks, SEA nominating chairman asking you to run for an office. Please consider running for one of the above offices of SEA. It would be nice to have several people running for each office. I have heard no one say they want to run for my position, and unlike SEA where there are no term limits on how many two year terms you may hold, National limit on serving in an office is two 2-year terms, so we have to get someone to run for SEA President/National VP, which will take place on line around the first part of the year, and my successor will be installed in Gillette, Wyoming in July of 2021.

Please consider stepping up and requesting to be on a committee and/or to run for an office in SEA.

Please get your Committee requests to me ASAP.

Thank you so much,
Betty

December 5, 2020 – Noon – Luncheon @ Bay Breeze Restaurant – (Officers) RSVP to Kenlyn

Jan Hollis made a motion for the November 2020 rally only, if there is a cost associated for $75.00 to use the clubhouse (if we don't have 10 RV's) the funds will come from the PST treasury. Mary Ann Miller seconded. The motion passed.

MEMBERS: Bennett; Bowman; Castor; Esposito; Gruba; Hollenbeck; Hollis; Jones; Like; Miller; Ralston; Sawyer; Young

RALLY REPORT – September 2020

By Terri Jones

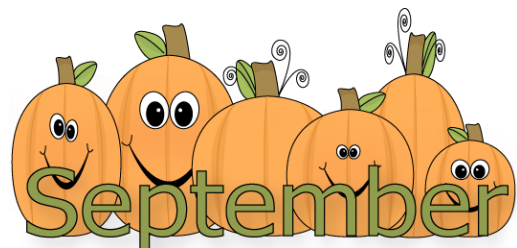

Well the train left Rossville/Chattanooga on Sunday September 13th for most of us. Some went on to other destinations and others boarded for home.

The Rally was a huge success as 13 RVs took their spots for a weekend of fun, food and music!! Doug Ralston and Jim Hollis picked and played some ole time favorites and Dennis Jones swooned us with ole time country tunes.

The rally hosts were Dennis and Terri Jones along with Ron and Linda Castor. I was honored to host with them and we kept the food coming!! If you left hungry it was your own fault. We surprised Brenda Ralston with her birthday sundae!! A lot of sightseeing by some and shopping for others!!

HOW MANY OF THE ABOVE DID YOU ALREADY KNOW?

Labor Day

According to the Department of Labor, the first Labor Day holiday was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York City, in accordance with the plans of the Central Labor Union. The Central Labor Union held its second Labor Day holiday just a year later, on September 5, 1883.

In 1884 the first Monday in September was selected as the holiday, as originally proposed, and the Central Labor Union urged similar organizations in other cities to follow the example of New York and celebrate a "workingmen's holiday" on that date. The idea spread with the growth of labor organizations, and in 1885 Labor Day was celebrated in many industrial centers of the country. Finally, in June of 1894, Congress passed an act making the first Monday in September a legal holiday.

Now is a good time to clean out your water heater!

Have you ever seen the sediment in your water heater? You don't want to. Camco's water tank rinser is an easy-to-use gadget that is a must-have for RVers. The tank rinser will get out all the yucky sediment that's been sitting at the bottom of your water heater and, most importantly, will extend the life of it too.

- Cleans sediment out of RV hot water heater
- Attach garden hose and insert into drain opening
- Includes shut off valve
- Helps extend the life of your water heater
- Lifts sediment that collects at the bottom of your water heater

Rosh Hashanah. Yom Kippur.

They're two of the most familiar – and important – days on the Jewish religious calendar, but did you know that the two events are strongly connected? And what these special days actually represent?

For some, Rosh Hashanah is called the “birthday of the world.” It marks the start of the Jewish New Year, and is filled with shared meals and prayer among loved ones. The celebration also begins the Jewish High Holy Days leading up to Yom Kippur – and a time when Jews focus their attention on repentance and reflection of action.

Here's what to know about these holy days:

This year, Rosh Hashanah begins at sunset on Friday, Sept. 18, and ends two days later at sunset on Sunday, Sept. 20. It's the start of the Jewish month of Tishrei, or Tishri, which falls in September or October, according to the Gregorian calendar. It's the first month of the civil year for Jews or the seventh month of the ecclesiastical year. Some years, Rosh Hashanah can start in early September or as late as early October.

Yom Kippur will begin in the following week – on the evening of Sunday, Sept. 27, and end the evening of Monday, Sept. 28.

What is Rosh Hashanah?

It marks the start of the Jewish New Year, as stated in the Bible (Leviticus 23:23-31).

While some ancient cultures, such as the Celts, celebrated the start of a new year during the spring equinox because it was the time of planting, Semitic cultures in the Near East celebrated the new year in the fall, after the harvest was gathered. The name of Rosh Hashanah can be translated as “first” or “head of the year.” It is also sometimes called “The Feast of Trumpets.”

Also, Rosh Hashanah marks the start of the Jewish High Holy Days leading up to Yom Kippur. It marks the beginning of the 10 “Days of Awe,” in which Jews focus their attentions on repentance and reflection leading up to Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, considered to be holiest day of the Jewish year. Traditionally, the blood of an animal was sacrificed as a way to remove sin or defilement.

According to tradition, the names of the righteous are written in the Book of Life and names of the wicked are written in the Book of Death. For everyone else – most people – you have 10 days to repent before your fate is sealed in one of the two books.

Calm your dog with a dryer sheet during a storm
Sounds like an odd tip, right? But sometimes dogs are not actually upset about the storm. Instead, it's the static electricity that's built up in their fur that's bothering them. The dryer sheet can make the problem go away instantly!

Some artists of the 50's are revising their hits with new lyrics to accommodate baby boomers. Here's a few:

1. Herman's Hermits- Mrs. Brown you've got a lovely walker.
2. The Bee Gees- How can you mend a broken hip.
3. Bobby Darin- Splish Splash I was Having a flash.
4. Ringo Starr- I'll get by with the help from depends.
5. The Commodores- Once, twice, three times to the bathroom.
6. Marvin Gaye- Heard it from the Grape Nuts
7. Leo Sayer- You make me feel like napping.
8. Willie Nelson- On the commode again.
- 9- Procol Harem- A whiter shade of hair.
10. Johnny Nash- I can't see clearly now.
11. Helen Reddy- I am woman hear me snore.
12. Abba- Denture Queen.

A Little Something To Bring A Smile ....

These lockdowns are getting annoying and quite frankly I've had enough. I've discussed the matter over a cup of tea with the kitchen sink, and we both agree that the experience is draining.

I didn't mention anything to the washing machine as she puts the wrong spin on everything.

Same with the fridge. He only gives cold shoulder. I asked the lamp, but she couldn't shed any new light on the situation.

The vacuum cleaner was rather rude and told me to suck it up Princess. The threshold was no better, it suggested I get over it.

The carpet advised me to sweep my feelings under the rug. But the fan was more upbeat and thought that the crisis would soon blow over.

The toilet looked a bit flushed and didn't offer an opinion.

The wall didn't say a word either, just gave me a blank stare.

The doorknob was more forthcoming - told me to get a firm grip on the situation and move on.

The front door declared I was unhinged and so the curtains told me to.....you guessed it right - pull myself together.

Then the chair told me to table it, and the table remarked , I didn't have a leg to stand on. When I told the table to break a leg, the mirror said that my comments reflected poorly on my thinking.

However, in the end, the iron set things straight . She said everything will be fine.

No situation is too pressing for long anyways.

Stay Safe Everyone 🍀

FRAUD & Seniors

By Ilyce Glink

According to Fraud.org, a project of the National Consumers League, 26 percent of scam victims are aged 55 and older. Lonely or unprotected retirees are easy targets for fraudsters, who often prey on retirees' need for companionship or cash. "They can be desperate for company, money, or stability, and when people are desperate in any kind of situation they do desperate things," says Sharane Gott, president of the Better Business Bureau in Acadiana, La.

Here are five scams that target retirees:

1. Lottery and sweepstakes scams. The fake check scam is the most common across all age groups, according to Fraud.org's Top Scams of 2013 report. For retirees, this scam usually comes in the form of a so-called "lottery win." A victim is notified that he or she has won the lottery and needs to pay taxes up front. The victim receives a fake check, which he or she deposits into a bank account. Then the victim wires money to the scammer for the supposed tax charges. The fake check bounces, and the victim loses the money that was wired to the scammer—in addition to whatever amount is owed to the bank for the fake check.

"Stating a person is a winner provides a strong incentive. Scammers use fictitious addresses, take the cash, and never provide any winnings because there are no winners," says Gott. These scams usually occur over the phone, and scammers may call several times a day to build a relationship and earn a victim's trust. The National Consumers League notes that nearly one-third of all victims of telemarketing scams are age 60 and older.

2. Phony debt relief services. "A lot of baby boomers are still struggling with debt. They don't want to pass that to their kids, so they fall for debt relief scams," says Gott. Despite having some savings, many retirees have credit card or mortgage debt, according to the AARP. Debt relief scams promise to lower monthly credit card payments with an upfront fee. Once the scammers get the fee, they don't provide the service. Debt scammers use an emotional appeal by promising a debt-free future to ensnare victims.

"With this one, you have to stick with the rule of thumb: If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is," says Gott.

3. Traveling worker scams. Scammers use door-to-door tactics to build trust and convince a victim that his or her house needs serious repair. Under pressure, the victim pays up front and the scammer leaves with the money, never intending to provide any services.

According to Gott, retirees may have a hard time not answering the door or phone. He says, "Baby boomers and older adults are typically much more trusting."

The other reason for targeting this age group is the perception of wealth. "Older adults are thought to have a significant amount of money, which often attracts scammers or even a retiree's own family members," says Maggie Flowers, a senior program manager of economic security for the National Council on Aging.

4. Grandparent scams. Receiving a call from a loved one in danger is frightening. By impersonating a grandchild, scammers often get retirees to wire them money. The scammer doesn't even have to know the grandchild's name because the victim supplies it. When a victim asks the scammer—who calls sounding very flustered—"Is that you, Bill?" the scammer will respond with a story. "Yes, it's me, Bill! I'm in jail and I need help, but please don't tell my parents!"

The grandparent may not talk about the situation if he or she doesn't want to embarrass the grandchild, leaving family members out of the loop. Gott warns that if anyone tells you to act urgently, that person should be questioned, even if it is a family member. If the situation involves your money and personal information, there's always time to deliberate.

5. Computer takeovers.

In this scam, a person claiming to be a representative from a reputable company such as Microsoft or Norton calls to say a virus is hacking a victim's computer and asks for remote access to fix it. If that is granted, the scammer can then easily gain access to sensitive personal information stored on the computer that can be used to commit identity theft. The scammer may also charge a fee for the fraudulent services being provided.

To prevent this scam, ask the representative to send written information and check out the business online or with the Better Business Bureau. "Chances are, if they won't provide it in writing, it's a scam," Flowers says.

Other scams retirees commonly fall for include government benefit scams, in which con artists impersonate a government representative calling with questions about medical or tax information, and online romance scams.

To help prevent a scam, never give out personal information or send money on request. If there's any cause for suspicion, file a report with the Federal Trade Commission or contact the Internet Crime Complaint Center. If a scammer already has access to your information, change your phone number and credit cards.

"A really quick fix for phone scammers is Caller ID," Gott says. "That way, you don't even pick up the phone."

"I hope I can be the autumn leaf, who looked at the sky and lived. And when it was time to leave, gracefully it knew life was a gift." -

Brain teaser answer:

Seven

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT THIS: AFTER FLIGHT 77 HIT THE PENTAGON ON 9/11, THE FOLLOWING HAPPENED.

A daycare facility inside the Pentagon had many children, including infants who were in heavy cribs. The daycare supervisor, looking at all the children they needed to evacuate, was in a panic over what they could do.

There were many children, mostly toddlers, as well as the infants who would need to be taken out with the cribs. There was no time to try to bundle them into carriers and strollers.

Just then a young Marine came running into the center and asked what they needed. After hearing what the center director was trying to do, he ran back out into the hallway and disappeared. The director thought, "Well, here we are, on our own."

About 2 minutes later, that Marine returned with 40 other Marines in tow. Each of them grabbed a crib with a child, and the rest started gathering up toddlers.

The director and her staff then helped them take all the children out of the center and down toward the park near the Potomac .

Once they got about 3/4 of a mile outside the building, the Marines stopped in the park, and then did a fabulous thing - they formed a circle with the cribs, which were quite sturdy and heavy, like the covered wagons in the Old West.

Inside this circle of cribs, they put the toddlers, to keep them from wandering off. Outside this circle were the 40 Marines, forming a perimeter around the children and waiting for instructions. There they remained until the parents could be notified and come get their children.

The chaplain then said, "I don't think any of us saw nor heard of this on any of the news stories of the day. It was an incredible story of our men there." There wasn't a dry eye in the room.

The thought of those Marines and what they did and how fast they reacted; could we expect any less from them? It was one of the most touching stories from the Pentagon.

It's the military, not the politicians that ensures our right to life,

One day I was walking down the beach with some friends, when one of them shouted, "Look at that dead bird!" Someone looked up at the sky and asked, "Where?"
They Walk Among Us! .....

The surprising uses of WD-40

To some do-it-yourselfers, there are two essential items everyone should have handy in a "needs fixing" emergency: Duct Tape and WD-40. Why WD-40?

Let us count the ways. Here are 25 of the 2,000 uses of WD-40 as reported by users:

- Cleans piano keys
- Keeps garden tools rust free
- Removes crayons from walls
- Shines the leaves of artificial house plants
- Removes ink from carpet and blue jeans
- Cleans dog poop from tennis shoes
- Cleans bottoms of pots and pans
- Cleans mildew from refrigerator gaskets
- Camouflages scratches on cultured marble
- Removes gum from flagpoles and concrete
- Keeps kitty-poo from sticking to electric cat box rakes
- Removes rust from cookie tins
- Cleans peanut butter from shoestrings
- Removes grape juice stains
- Shines wheelbarrow tires
- Cleans scum from rubber gloves
- Removes gum from dryer lint screens
- Keeps metal wire screens rust free
- Cleans and protects underside of cast iron skillet
- Keeps sewing needs from rusting
- Removes old cellophane tape
- Cleans black marks from shoes on floors
- Removes stickers from credit cards
- Removes water spots from mirrors
- Removes lipstick from fabric

And, the police once used WD-40 in a very unusual way: to remove a naked burglar trapped in an air conditioner vent! Oh, and to bust a popular myth that originated in the tabloids: No, WD-40 does not cure arthritis! The WD-40 company does not recommend the use of WD-40 for medical purposes, and knows no reason why WD-40 would be effective for arthritis pain relief. WD-40 contains petroleum distillates and should be handled with the same precautions for any product containing this type of material.

Things Mom Would Never Say

"How on earth can you see the TV sitting so far back?"

"Yeah, I used to skip school a lot, too"

"Just leave all the lights on ... it makes the house look more cheery"

"Let me smell that shirt -- Yeah, it's good for another week"

"Go ahead and keep that stray dog, honey. I'll be glad to feed and walk him every day"

"Well, if Rahul's mamma says it's OK, that's good enough for me."

"The curfew is just a general time to shoot for. It's not like I'm running a prison around here."

"I don't have a tissue with me ... just use your sleeve"

"Don't bother wearing a jacket - the wind-chill is bound to improve"

SOME FUNNIES

I'm on two diets. I wasn't getting enough food on one.

A cold seat in a public restroom is unpleasant. A warm seat is worse.

Apparently RSVP'ing to a wedding invitation, "Maybe next time", isn't the correct response.

Don't irritate old people. The older we get the less "life in prison" is a deterrent.

Have you ever listened to someone for a minute and thought, "Their cornbread ain't done in the middle."

Aliens probably fly by earth and lock their doors.

You will hit every cone on the highway before I let you merge in front of me because you saw that sign 2 miles ago like I did.

I asked my wife if I was the only one she had been with. She said yes, all the others were nines and tens...

I really don't mind getting older, but my body is taking it badly.

It turns out that being an adult is mostly just googling how to do stuff.

I miss the 90's, when bread was still good for you and no one knew what kale was.

Do you ever get up in the morning, look in the mirror and think, "That can't be accurate"

I want to be 14 again and ruin my life differently. I have new ideas.

As I watch this generation try to rewrite our history, one thing I'm sure of... it will be misspelled and have no punctuation.

I thought getting old would take longer.

Confuse your doctor by putting on rubber gloves at the same time he does.

My wife asked me to take her to one of those restaurants where they make food right in front of you. I took her to Subway. That's when the fight started.

Me: Sobbing my heart out, "I can't see you anymore... I'm not going to let you hurt me again." Trainer: "It was one sit-up. You did one sit-up."

Picked up a hitchhiker. He asked if I wasn't afraid he might be a serial killer? I told him the odds of two serial killers being in the same car were extremely unlikely.

I went line dancing last night. OK, it was a roadside sobriety test... same thing.

Look, Mom! I caught the mouse just like you taught me!

Might look forward to

This is what we who are aged 70 or 80 years plus, might look forward to. This is something that happened at an assisted living center.

The people who lived there had small apartments, but they all ate at a central cafeteria. One morning one of the residents didn't show up for breakfast so my wife went upstairs and knocked on his door to see if everything was OK. She could hear him through the door and he said that he was running late and would be down shortly, so she went back to the dining area.

An hour later he still hadn't arrived, so she went back up towards his room, but found him on the stairs. He was coming down the stairs but was having a hard time. He had a death grip on the handrail and seemed to have trouble getting his legs to work right.

She told him she was going to call an ambulance, but he told her no, he wasn't in any pain and just wanted to have his breakfast. So, she helped him the rest of the way down the stairs and he had his breakfast.

When he tried to return to his room, he was completely unable to get up even the first stair step, so they called an ambulance for him. A couple of hours later she called the hospital to see how he was doing. The receptionist there said he was fine, he just had both of legs in one side of his boxer shorts.

I'm sending this to my children so that they don't sell the house before they know all the facts.

A NEW INTERPRETATION OF BEING REALLY POOR

How wonderful! I love it!!!!

Bought vs Homemade (it just doesn't get much cuter than this... note the expression in the picture)

Six year old Annie returns home from school and says that today she had her first family planning lesson at school.

Her mother, very interested, asks: "Oh... How did it go"

"I nearly died of shame!" she answers. "Sam from down the street says the stork brings babies. Sally next door said you can buy babies at the orphanage. Pete in my class says you can buy babies at the hospital."

Her mother answers laughingly, "But that's no reason to be ashamed."

"No... but I can't tell them that we were so poor that you and daddy had to make me yourselves!"

PST Rally Oct. 9 to 11, 2020

Scenic Mountain RV Park and Campground

2866 Irwinton Rd., Milledgeville, GA 31061

Website www.scenicmountainrvpark.com

Hosts: Ted & Darlene Young, Pat and Lori Thomas

We are looking forward to hosting the October Rally. Scenic Mountain RV Park has great reviews and a newly renovated, large building for dining and entertainment. As was noted in Kenlyn's email of June 10, the rally date was changed so as not to conflict with the Coaches for Christ rally in Gulf Shore, AL the first weekend of Oct.

Please call for reservations by Sept. 1. The rate is $35 per night. Advise you are a member of PST so we can be on sites in close proximity.

There is a lot to see in the Milledgeville area.

The tentative schedule will be as follows:

For Thursday Oct. 9 early birds, dinner is on your own or together.

Friday evening- We will carpool to a local restaurant to be determined.

Saturday breakfast- Will be in the clubhouse by the hosts. Bring utensils and beverage.

Saturday evening dinner will be in the clubhouse by your hosts. Bring utensils and beverage.

Sunday morning- Hosts will provide lite breakfast, bring beverage.

Rally fee will be $20 per person and collected during the rally.

Please contact Darlene or Lori after you make your reservation so we have a count of those attending.
